REBORN
THE ART OF BECOMING

Meet the Author

Dr. Neveen Dominic is a multiple award-winning entrepreneur, author, transformation strategist, philanthropist, and beauty industry veteran whose work spans business, personal development, beauty, wellness, education, leadership, and community impact.

With nearly three decades of experience in the beauty and fashion industry, Dr. Dominic has built her career around one central belief: true transformation begins from within. A Red Seal Hairstylist and accomplished businesswoman, she has expanded her expertise through studies in marketing and management, community economic development, business analysis, film production, nutrition science, fitness, and personal development.

Dr. Dominic holds an Honorary Doctorate in Business and Entrepreneurship, recognizing her contributions to purpose-driven entrepreneurship, leadership, and community impact. She is also currently pursuing a PhD in Leadership Psychology, where her academic research will further explore the principles underpinning her REBORN framework and its relationship to leadership, emotional regulation, self-mastery, personal transformation, and human potential.

Dr. Dominic is the founder of Neveen Dominic Cosmetics, the Transformation Center, Beauty from the Kingdom of Kush, and Beauty Response to Cancer, among other entrepreneurial and philanthropic initiatives. Through these platforms, she has created opportunities for women and youth to develop confidence, practical skills, leadership, entrepreneurship, and greater economic independence.

Her latest work, REBORN: The Courage to Heal, the Wisdom to Grow, the Power to Transform, represents an evolution of her life's work from external transformation to internal freedom. Drawing from decades of experience in fashion, beauty, entrepreneurship, leadership, and navigating adversity, Dr. Dominic introduces original frameworks including the Three-Point Emotional Pivot and the Pyramid of Freedom, designed to help individuals strengthen emotional regulation, develop self-mastery, and move beyond living according to the expectations of others.

As the visionary behind the REBORN Transformation Summit, Dr. Dominic brings together experts from diverse disciplines to explore the intersection of emotional wellness, resilience, identity, health, leadership, legacy, and personal transformation.

At the heart of her work is a powerful philosophy: transformation is not about becoming someone new. It is about removing what has kept you from becoming fully aligned with who you already are.

Through REBORN, Dr. Dominic is building more than a book or summit. She is developing a framework for helping individuals look inward, reclaim their direction, and cultivate the courage, wisdom, and self-leadership required to get free and stay free.

MEET THE REBORN SPEAKERS

REBORN

FRANK HILDEBRANDT

Future Planner | Speaker | Strategic Thinker | REBORN Contributor

Frank Hildebrandt is a Future Planner and speaker whose work encourages individuals to think intentionally about where they are today, where they want to go, and the decisions required to build a stronger tomorrow.

His approach to future planning is grounded in a simple but important principle: the future is not something we merely wait for. It is something we prepare for through clarity, intentional choices, personal responsibility, and purposeful action.

As a contributor to the REBORN Transformation Summit, Frank brings a forward-looking perspective to a multidisciplinary conversation about transformation, resilience, leadership, wellness, identity, and personal growth. His message complements the REBORN philosophy by encouraging individuals to move beyond simply responding to their present circumstances and begin considering the life, legacy, and future they are intentionally creating.

Transformation requires more than recognizing what needs to change. It also requires the ability to envision what comes next. Through his work as a Future Planner, Frank encourages people to ask meaningful questions about their priorities, decisions, preparedness, and long-term direction.

His contribution to REBORN reinforces the importance of aligning today's actions with tomorrow's aspirations. Whether considering personal goals, family priorities, professional direction, or the legacy one hopes to create, intentional planning can provide greater clarity and purpose when navigating life's transitions.

At REBORN, Frank joins an accomplished group of professionals and transformational voices bringing different areas of expertise into one shared conversation. His perspective adds an important dimension to that dialogue: healing helps us address what has been, transformation changes how we approach today, and future planning challenges us to intentionally prepare for what comes next.

As a Future Planner, Frank's message is ultimately about moving forward with greater awareness. His participation in REBORN invites guests to look beyond the immediate moment, define what matters most, and consider how the choices they make today can contribute to the future they want to create.

Frank Hildebrandt joins REBORN with a forward-focused message: your past may inform your story and your present may define your choices, but your future deserves to be planned with intention.

COLLIA BARNABY

Estate and Trust Professional

Collia Barnaby is an Estate and Trust Professional whose work brings an important dimension to the REBORN Transformation Summit: the understanding that personal transformation is not only about how we live today, but also about how intentionally we prepare for the people, responsibilities, and legacy that matter beyond us.

Her professional perspective focuses on thoughtful estate and trust planning, encouraging individuals and families to have meaningful conversations about their wishes, responsibilities, preparedness, and the legacy they hope to leave behind.
s an extension of intentional living. As individuals

Within the REBORN experience, Collia introduces legacy as an extension of intentional living. As individuals gain greater clarity about who they are, what they value, and the future they want to create, an important question follows: Have I put the appropriate plans in place to reflect those priorities?

Estate and trust planning often involves conversations that people delay, yet thoughtful preparation can provide greater clarity for individuals and families and help ensure that important wishes and responsibilities are considered before moments of transition arise.

Collia's contribution to REBORN encourages participants to look beyond immediate personal growth and consider family, stewardship, continuity, responsibility, and what they ultimately want their lives to represent.

Her perspective creates a natural connection between personal transformation and generational legacy. While REBORN challenges individuals to examine what they want to change within themselves, Collia's work encourages them to also consider what they want to preserve, protect, communicate, and intentionally pass forward.

Through education and thoughtful conversation, she brings greater awareness to an area of life deeply connected to preparation and responsibility.

Collia Barnaby joins REBORN as an Estate and Trust Professional with a powerful message: a meaningful legacy should not be left entirely to circumstance. It deserves intention, conversation, and thoughtful preparation.

She joins REBORN as a distinguished voice in health education, research, innovation, and systems development, demonstrating what becomes possible when personal transformation grows into collective change.

DR. BUNMI ALABI

Specialist Paediatrician | Speaker | Child & Family Health Advocate | REBORN Contributor

Dr. Bunmi Alabi is a Specialist Paediatrician with more than 25 years of experience dedicated to the health, development, and well-being of children and families. Her extensive medical experience brings an important perspective to the REBORN Transformation Summit, connecting personal transformation with the environments, relationships, and experiences that help shape us from the earliest stages of life.

Throughout her career, Dr. Alabi has worked with children and families across different stages of growth and development, giving her a valuable understanding of the importance of early intervention, supportive relationships, healthy development, and informed care.

Her contribution to REBORN expands the conversation about transformation beyond adulthood. While individuals can make powerful decisions to change the direction of their lives, understanding how childhood experiences, family environments, development, and well-being influence the person we become can provide important context for that journey.

As a Specialist Paediatrician, Dr. Alabi brings the perspective of a physician who has spent decades observing human development at some of its most formative stages. Her presence within REBORN reinforces an important principle: building healthier individuals and stronger communities requires us to consider not only how adults heal and grow, but also how we support the next generation as they develop their confidence, identity, resilience, and sense of possibility.

At the REBORN Transformation Summit, Dr. Alabi joins a multidisciplinary group of professionals, entrepreneurs, leaders, and transformational voices exploring emotional wellness, resilience, identity, leadership, health, legacy, and personal growth.

Her perspective provides a vital bridge between childhood development and lifelong transformation, encouraging participants to think more deeply about the foundations upon which confidence, resilience, relationships, and future leadership are built.

Through her decades of service and commitment to children's well-being, Dr. Alabi represents the importance of knowledge, compassion, prevention, and purposeful care.

Dr. Bunmi Alabi joins REBORN with a powerful reminder: when we invest in the well-being and development of children today, we help shape healthier individuals, stronger families, and more resilient communities for generations to come.

Dr. Tope Roberts joins REBORN as a distinguished voice at the intersection of medicine, advocacy, leadership, and compassionate service, contributing to a powerful conversation about our capacity to heal, rebuild, and become.

PATIENCE NEBA

Therapist | Mental Health Professional | REBORN Speaker | Mental Health Triage & Support

Patience Neba is a therapist and mental health professional whose work focuses on creating supportive spaces where individuals can process difficult experiences, strengthen emotional well-being, and take meaningful steps toward healing and personal growth.

At the REBORN Transformation Summit, Patience serves both as a speaker and as the therapist supporting the REBORN Mental Health Triage & Support pathway, an intentional layer of care for participants who may experience emotional distress or recognize a need for additional mental-health support during the event.

As REBORN explores identity, resilience, healing, relationships, adversity, and transformation, her presence reinforces an important principle: meaningful reflection should also be supported by access to qualified professional care when needed.

During the summit, Patience will help participants identify appropriate next steps where additional support may be beneficial, including professional follow-up, counselling, or referral to suitable services and resources.

Her role helps create a responsible bridge between personal development and mental-health care, while recognizing that not every difficult emotion requires therapy.

Patience brings a valuable clinical perspective to REBORN, ensuring that conversations around courage, healing, resilience, and growth are accompanied by attention to emotional safety and appropriate support.

She joins REBORN as both a voice in the conversation and part of its commitment to responsible care, helping create a pathway from reflection to support during the summit and beyond.

EHI ADE-MABO

The Mindset Surgeon | Speaker | Mindset & Transformation Leader | REBORN Contributor

Ehi Ade-Mabo, known as The Mindset Surgeon, is a speaker and transformational leader whose work focuses on the role mindset plays in shaping how individuals see themselves, respond to challenges, make decisions, and move forward in life.

Her work is rooted in the understanding that meaningful transformation requires more than changing external circumstances. It also requires examining the beliefs, thought patterns, perspectives, and internal narratives that influence our choices and experiences.

At the REBORN Transformation Summit, Ehi brings this perspective into a conversation centred on self-awareness, growth, and intentional change. Her contribution highlights mindset as the bridge between recognizing what needs to change and taking the actions required to create something different.

Through her work as The Mindset Surgeon, she encourages individuals to identify limiting patterns, challenge assumptions, take greater personal responsibility, and develop the resilience and awareness needed to support the future they want to create.

Her perspective aligns strongly with REBORN's philosophy of self-mastery: lasting transformation is not simply about positive thinking, but about becoming conscious of the internal narratives that may keep us connected to identities, expectations, or experiences we have outgrown.

Ehi Ade-Mabo joins REBORN with a powerful message: when we become intentional about transforming the way we think, we create new possibilities for the way we lead, live, grow, and become.

ANDREA COX

Author of The Final Departure | Speaker | Transformational Voice | REBORN Contributor

Andrea Cox is an author, speaker, and transformational voice whose work explores some of life's most profound experiences: change, transition, reflection, and the courage required to move forward when life takes an unexpected direction.

As the author of The Final Departure, Andrea brings a deeply human perspective to the REBORN Transformation Summit, contributing to an important conversation about how individuals navigate endings, process significant life experiences, and find meaning as they enter new chapters.

Her presence within REBORN reflects one of the central realities of transformation: before something new can fully emerge, there are often things we must be willing to acknowledge, release, or leave behind. Whether the transition involves relationships, identity, expectations, circumstances, or a former version of ourselves, moving forward requires both courage and self-awareness.

Andrea's contribution encourages participants to consider the role that endings can play in transformation. A departure does not always represent defeat or loss. Sometimes it marks a boundary, a decision, a turning point, or the beginning of a different direction.

This perspective aligns naturally with the philosophy of REBORN, which invites individuals to examine their inner world, understand what has shaped them, and intentionally determine what they will carry forward into the next chapter of their lives.

At the REBORN Transformation Summit, Andrea joins a multidisciplinary group of authors, health professionals, entrepreneurs, community leaders, and transformational voices exploring emotional wellness, resilience, identity, leadership, health, purpose, and legacy.

Through her authorship and her voice as a speaker, Andrea adds an important dimension to that conversation: the recognition that transformation often requires us to develop a healthier relationship with change itself. Rather than allowing an ending to define the remainder of our story, we can examine what it has taught us and decide how we will move forward.

Her message encourages reflection without remaining trapped in the past, acceptance without surrendering possibility, and the courage to recognize when a new chapter is ready to begin.

Andrea Cox joins REBORN with a powerful reminder: an ending may close one chapter of our story, but it can also create the space, clarity, and courage required to begin another.

HADEYA DOMINIC-MOSS

Real Estate Professional | Emerging Business Leader | Advocate for Intentional Ownership | Distinguished REBORN Speaker

Hadeya Dominic-Moss represents a new generation of professionals building their future with purpose, independence, and intention. A real estate professional serving the Calgary market, she is an Associate with Real Broker and is associated with Zillion Realty Group, helping clients navigate one of life's most significant decisions: finding and acquiring a place to call their own.

Her relationship with real estate began early, shaped by an interest in property, achievement, and creating something of her own. Over time, that interest developed into a career grounded in the understanding that real estate represents more than buildings. For many, it represents security, independence, investment, family, and the opportunity to begin a new chapter.

Hadeya's journey also reflects resilience and self-direction. As she continues to build her professional identity, she embodies the experience of navigating transition, expectations, growth, and the responsibility of shaping a future on her own terms.

This makes her connection to REBORN: The Art of Becoming especially meaningful. REBORN explores the difference between the life others may envision for us and the life we intentionally choose to build. Hadeya brings the perspective of a young adult learning to honour where she comes from while defining who she wants to become.

Her work in real estate offers a natural parallel: before a home can stand, there must be a foundation, and before a different future can be built, there must be a decision to take ownership of it.

At REBORN, Hadeya brings an important intergenerational voice, particularly for young adults navigating education, careers, financial independence, expectations, and self-discovery.

Hadeya Dominic-Moss joins REBORN as an emerging voice in real estate, independence, and intentional ownership, reminding a new generation that becoming is not about having every answer, but about having the courage to build deliberately.

ALESSANDRA CHARLESWORTH

Leadership, Human Behaviour & Growth Advisor | Host of The Unlearning Studio Podcast

Alessandra Charlesworth helps leaders uncover the hidden patterns that shape performance, influence, relationships, and growth.

Drawing on more than 12 years of experience across psychology, HR strategy, and business development, she works with professionals, entrepreneurs, and organizations to identify the beliefs, behaviours, blind spots, and systemic challenges that create the people and process problems quietly sabotaging success.

Her work is built on a simple observation: the challenges we face in business, career, relationships, and life are often symptoms of deeper patterns we have yet to recognize. By uncovering those patterns, removing the friction beneath them, and strengthening what drives sustainable growth, Alessandra helps people create meaningful and lasting change.

At the REBORN Transformation Summit, she brings a powerful message about self-awareness, leadership, and human growth, reminding us that transformation begins not by becoming someone new, but by uncovering and understanding what has been standing in our way all along.

Uncover. Remove. Strengthen.

STEFFANIE COSTIGAN

Award-Winning Author | Investigative Journalist | Broadcaster | Storyteller | Distinguished REBORN Speaker

Leslie Woods is an accomplished Image Consultant and Brand Manager whose work focuses on how image, identity, communication, and brand perception shape the way individuals and organizations are experienced by the world.

Throughout her career, she has worked with professionals, leaders, and organizations to strengthen the connection between personal presence, professional identity, and brand. Her approach recognizes that image is not simply about appearance, but also about communication, confidence, credibility, consistency, and the experience we create for others.

As an Image Consultant, Leslie helps individuals present themselves with intention and authenticity, while her work in brand management extends this philosophy to organizations seeking greater clarity, consistency, and alignment between their values and public identity.

Her experience in people development and organizational environments also gives her a broad understanding of transformation, from professionals repositioning their careers to leaders strengthening their presence and organizations redefining how they are perceived.

At REBORN: The Art of Becoming, Leslie brings an important perspective to reinvention: what happens when our external image begins to align with our internal transformation?

LESLIE WOODS

Image Consultant | Brand Manager | Leadership & Personal Brand Strategist | Distinguished REBORN Speaker

Leslie Woods is an accomplished Image Consultant and Brand Manager whose work centers on helping individuals and organizations understand how image, identity, communication and brand perception influence the way they are experienced by the world.

With a multidisciplinary professional background spanning image consulting, personal branding, human resources, leadership development, training, facilitation and organizational strategy, Leslie brings a unique perspective to the relationship between who we are internally and how that identity is communicated externally.

Throughout her career, Leslie has worked with professionals, leaders and organizations to strengthen the connection between personal presence, professional identity and organizational brand. Her approach recognizes that a strong image is not simply about appearance. It encompasses communication, confidence, credibility, consistency and the experience we create for others.

As an Image Consultant, Leslie understands the importance of intentional presentation. The way we dress, communicate and carry ourselves can influence first impressions, professional opportunities and how confidently we occupy the spaces we enter. Her work encourages individuals to develop an image that is not manufactured for approval, but thoughtfully aligned with their goals and authentic identity.

Her experience as a Brand Manager expands this philosophy beyond the individual. A meaningful brand requires clarity about what it represents, consistency in how it communicates and an understanding of the audience it intends to serve. Leslie brings together the human and strategic sides of branding, helping bridge the space between identity and perception.

Her professional journey has also included extensive work in people development, training and organizational environments. This gives Leslie an understanding of transformation from multiple perspectives: the individual developing confidence, the professional repositioning their career, the leader strengthening their presence and the organization seeking greater alignment between its values and its public identity.

This perspective creates a natural connection with REBORN: The Art of Becoming.

REBORN explores the journey of recognizing who we have been, determining who we are becoming and intentionally aligning our choices with that new direction. Leslie brings another important dimension to that conversation: what happens when our external image begins to align with our internal transformation?

REBORN
A BLUEPRINT FOR SELF-MASTERY, EMOTIONAL FREEDOM & A LIFE OF PURPOSE
REAL TRANSFORMATION BEGINS WITH A CHOICE.
REBORN is a powerful and practical guide for anyone ready to move from survival to self-mastery, and from other people's expectations to a life of freedom, purpose and intentional growth.
Drawing from decades of experience in beauty, fashion, entrepreneurship, leadership and personal transformation, Dr. Neveen Dominic shares her journey with honesty, wisdom and practical tools, including her signature frameworks, the Pyramid of Freedom and the Three-Point Emotional Pivot.
This book will help you understand your past, regulate your emotions, strengthen your boundaries and develop the courage to choose a new direction – one that aligns with who you truly are.
HEAL YOUR PAST
BREAK LIMITING BELIEFS
REGULATE YOUR EMOTIONS
STRENGTHEN YOUR BOUNDARIES
CREATE A LIFE OF PURPOSE
Transformation is not about becoming someone new. It is about becoming conscious enough to choose who you will be next.
THE TIME TO BE YOU IS NOW.
